FOR

CORPUS CHRISTI PARISH

CELEBRATION OF THE FUNERAL LITURGY

The Order of Christian Funerals is celebrated in three stations: the Vigil for the Deceased, the Funeral Liturgy, and the Rite of Committal.

The Vigil for the Deceased at the Funeral Home

As its name implies, the Vigil is generally celebrated the night before the Funeral. The Vigil service is typically brief, consisting of Opening Prayers, a proclamation of Sacred Scripture, and intercessions for the deceased.

The Funeral in the Church

At the Funeral Liturgy the community gathers with the family and friends of the deceased to give praise and thanks to God for Christ's victory over sin and death and to commend the deceased to God's tender mercy and compassion.

The funeral may take place in the context of Mass, or if held at the Funeral Home during a Liturgy of the Word that is not Mass. The church is the place where the community of faith gathers for worship. Therefore, it is best that the funeral rites take place in the church.

In the act of bringing the body to the church, the members of the community acknowledge the deceased as one of their own, as one who was welcomed in Baptism and who held a place in the assembly. Through the use of various baptismal symbols we show the reverence due the body, the temple of the Holy Spirit.

Any national flags or insignia of associations to which the deceased belonged are to be removed from the casket at the entrance of the church. This allows the baptismal symbols and gestures to become evident.

The Paschal Candle is lit and placed at the front of the church near the casket or urn. The candle reminds us of the light of Christ, given to us at Baptism.

Sprinkling the body with Holy Water recalls the pouring of water in the baptismal celebration to wash away our sin.

Placing the pall over the casket recalls the "white garment" we were given at Baptism as a sign of putting on a new life in Christ.

Later, the body of the deceased is incensed as a sign of respect for the body as a temple of the Holy Spirit.

The Rite of Committal at the Cemetery

In committing the body to its resting place, the community expresses the hope that, with “all those who have gone before us marked with the sign of faith”, the deceased awaits the glory of the resurrection. The Rite of Committal is the final act of the community of faith in caring for the body of the deceased. It may be celebrated at the grave.

This Rite includes prayers offered for blessing of the ground (if held at a non-Catholic cemetery), disposition of the body and for the consolation of those gathered. If military honors are offered, they are done following the completion of the Rite.

SACRED SCRIPTURE IN THE FUNERAL RITES

At the Vigil, Funeral Liturgy, and Rite of Committal, scriptural passages are read. The Catholic Church does not permit substituting other sources of literature for these readings. Poetry or excerpts from literature are appropriately read at the funeral home following the Vigil or at a later time when the family is gathered.

If they so desire, the family may choose an Old Testament reading from those listed at the end of this booklet to be read at the funeral. If, however, the funeral is held during the Easter Season the reading is set by the Church from the New Testament.

FLOWERS IN THE CHURCH

Casket sprays are removed before the casket is brought into the church. They may be replaced at the end of the funeral. Two flower arrangements in vases may be brought from the funeral home or sent directly to the church. They will be placed so as not to obscure the altar, pulpit, tabernacle, or block passage of ministers in the sanctuary.

Very few flowers should be brought into the church during Advent or Lent. When the church is decorated for Christmas or Easter, other flowers may seem redundant. You may wish not to bring them to the church during these times.

OTHER LITURGICAL CONSIDERATIONS

Placing of the Pall: A funeral pall will be draped over the casket at the beginning of the Funeral Mass. The Pall reminds us of the white garment given at Baptism symbolizing our life in Christ.

Holy Communion: Catholics do not practice inter-communion with the members of other Christian communities. Catholics in the state of grace are encouraged to receive communion.

The Sacrament of Reconciliation: Those who are alienated from the Church, from God, or from family members or friends, may wish to become reconciled. The priest will be happy to make the Sacrament of Reconciliation available to those who request it.

Music for the Funeral Rites: Music in the Funeral Rites allows the community to express its convictions and feelings that words alone may fail to convey. It has the power to console and uplift mourners and to strengthen the unity of the assembly.

If they so desire, the family may request a liturgical song to be included in the Funeral Rites chosen from those listed at the end of this booklet. All music that will take place during the Funeral Mass will be played and sung by Parish Musicians. If the family would like a musician/singer from outside Corpus Christi Parish to offer a liturgical music piece it will take place before the Funeral Mass as a prelude. Because of the sacred ritual of the Funeral Mass, secular, national, or ethnic songs, as well as recorded music in any form, are not permitted. Their proper place is after the Vigil service or at a family celebration.

CREMATION IN THE CATHOLIC FUNERAL RITE

The Church prefers and urges that the body of the deceased be present for the funeral rites. The long-standing practice of burying the body in a grave or tomb in imitation of the burial of Jesus' body is encouraged as a sign of our Christian faith. When the choice has been made to cremate a body, it is recommended that the cremation take place after the Funeral Rite.

The cremated remains of a body should be treated with the same respect given to the human body from which they came. This includes the use of a worthy vessel to contain the ashes, the manner in which they are carried, and the final disposition. The cremated remains should be buried in a grave or entombed in a mausoleum or columbarium. Scattering and/or dividing ashes is not the reverent disposition the Church requires.

If cremated remains are brought to the church for the Funeral Rite, a small table or stand is prepared at the place normally occupied by the casket. The vessel may be carried to its place during the entrance procession or may be placed on the table or stand before the liturgy begins.

OPTIONS FOR SACRED SCRIPTURE

If desired, you may choose one of the following readings.

READING A—Job 19:1, 23-27

A reading from the book of Job

Job answered and said:

Oh, would that my words were written down!

Would that they were inscribed in a record:

That with an iron chisel and with lead
they were cut in the rock forever!

But as for me, I know that my Vindicator lives,
and that he will at last stand forth upon the dust;

Whom I myself shall see:

my own eyes, not another's shall behold him;

And from my flesh I shall see God;
my inmost being is consumed with longing.

The Word of the Lord

READING B—Isaiah 25:6a, 7-9

A reading from the book of the prophet Isaiah

On this mountain the Lord of hosts will provide for all peoples.

On this mountain he will destroy the veil that veils all peoples,

The web that is woven over all nations;
he will destroy death forever.

The Lord God will wipe away
the tears from all faces;

The reproach of his people he will remove from the whole earth; for the Lord has spoken.

On that day it will be said:

“Behold our God, to whom we looked to save us!

This is the Lord for whom we looked;

Let us rejoice and be glad that he has saved us!”

The Word of the Lord.

READING C—Wisdom 3:1-6, 9

A reading from the book of Wisdom

The souls of the just are in the hand of God,
and no torment shall touch them.
They seemed, in the view of the foolish, to be dead;
and their passing away was thought an affliction
and their going forth from us, utter destruction.
But they are in peace.
For if before men, indeed, they be punished,
yet is their hope full of immortality;
Chastised a little, they shall be greatly blessed,
because God tried them
and found them worthy of himself.
As gold in the furnace, he proved them,
and as sacrificial offerings he took them to himself.
Those who trust in him shall understand truth,
and the faithful shall abide with him in love:
Because grace and mercy are with his holy ones,
and his care is with his elect.

The Word of the Lord.

READING D—Lamentations 3:17-26

A reading from the book of Lamentations

My soul is deprived of peace,
I have forgotten what happiness is;
I tell myself my future is lost,
all that I hoped for from the Lord.

The thought of my homeless poverty
is wormwood and gall;
Remembering it over and over
leaves my soul downcast within me.
But I will call this to mind,
as my reason to have hope:

The favors of the Lord are not exhausted,
his mercies are not spent;
They are renewed each morning,
so great is his faithfulness.
My portion is the Lord, says my soul;
therefore will I hope in him.

Good is the Lord to one who waits for him,
to the soul that seeks him;
It is good to hope in silence
for the saving help of the Lord.

The Word of the Lord.

READING E—Daniel 12:1-3

A reading from the prophet Daniel

“At that time there shall arise
Michael, the great prince,
guardian of your people;
It shall be a time unsurpassed in distress
since nations began until that time.
At that time your people shall escape,
everyone who is found written in the book.

Many of those who sleep
in the dust of the earth shall awake;
Some shall live forever,
others shall be an everlasting horror and disgrace.
But the wise shall shine brightly
like the splendor of the firmament,
And those who lead the many to justice
shall be like the stars forever.”

The Word of the Lord.

READING F—Revelation 21:1a, 3-5a

This reading can only be used during the Easter season (Easter Sunday through Pentecost) when it must be used.

A reading from the book of Revelation

I saw a new heaven and a new earth. The former heaven and the former earth had passed away, and the sea was no more. I also saw the holy city, a new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, “Behold, God’s dwelling is with the human race. He will dwell with them and they will be his people and God himself will always be with them as their God. He will wipe every tear from their eyes, and there shall be no more death or mourning, wailing or pain, for the old order has passed away.”

The one who sat on the throne said, “Behold, I make all things new.”
