SCHOOL YEAR 2015-2016

It is hard to believe that the first quarter of school is over. We will be meeting with parents this week to go over their children's report cards. We look forward to renewing the great partnership we have with our parents.

Peeking into...Grade 6!

During the month of October, our science curriculum focused on Ecology. Along with science labs and Power Point presentations on different NH species, the students dissected owl pellets. A field trip to the Museum of Science in Boston offered the 6th grade many exhibits about Ecology. In Social Studies, we are studying Ancient Civilizations and the three Stone Age periods. We discussed that learning was a privilege during this time period and only a few children were allowed to attend school. In Math, we completed our review of place value and exponents, and now the students are applying the 4 basic operations with word problems strategies. They have also been practicing converting decimals to fractions and percents.
