Dear fellow members of St. Denis and Our Lady of the Wayside,

In all the three readings of this weekend there is a sense of urgency, ‘that time is running out.’ "Forty days more" shouted Jonah. "The time is running out," wrote Paul. "This is the time of fulfillment," said Jesus. Everything in this world is transitory. We are not the first people in the world to think that everything is changing and that nothing is permanent. Ancient Greek philosopher, Heraclitus, writing about 500 B.C., said, "Everything changes and nothing remains the same… You cannot step twice in the same river, for the waters are perpetually flowing upon you…." No people in history were ever so well-placed as we are to realize that "Time is short.” Today nobody has time. Everyone is rushing. But what are we rushing towards? What is the future into which we are accelerating? For many, it is a journey to nowhere. Christ invites us today to answer his question from last Sunday’s Gospel reading, "What are you looking for?" The answer to this question is the key to finding meaning and purpose in life!

I returned from India on the 20th of January. I had a very pleasant time in India, spending most of my time with my mom and dad. Thank you for all your prayers. I had a wonderful trip.

Yours Sincerely,
Fr. Jose Shaji, Pastor

Gospel Reading

After John had been arrested, Jesus came to Galilee proclaiming the gospel of God: “This is the time of fulfillment. The kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel.”

As he passed by the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and his brother Andrew casting their nets into the sea; they were fishermen. Jesus said to them, “Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men.” Then they abandoned their nets and followed him. He walked along a little farther and saw James, the son of Zebedee, and his brother John. They too were in a boat mending their nets. Then he called them. So they left their father Zebedee in the boat along with the hired men and followed him.

Saint of the Week: St. John Bosco

January 31 - Bosco was born in the evening of 16 August 1815 in the hillside hamlet of Becchi, Italy. He was the youngest son of Francesco Bosco and Margherita Occhiena. When he was little more than two years old his father Francesco died, leaving the support of three boys to his mother, Margherita. She played a strong role in Bosco's formation and personality, and was an early supporter of her son's ideals. In 1825, when he was nine, Bosco had the first of a series of dreams which would play an influential role in his outlook and work. This first dream "left a profound impression on him for the rest of his life", according to his own memoirs. Bosco apparently saw a multitude of very poor boys who fought and blasphemed, and a man, who "appeared, nobly attired, with a manly and imposing bearing". The man said to him: You will have to win these friends of yours not with blows, but with gentleness and kindness. So begin right now to show them that sin is ugly and virtue beautiful.

John Bosco’s theory of education could well be used in today’s schools. It was a preventive system, rejecting corporal punishment and placing students in surroundings removed from the likelihood of committing sin. He advocated frequent reception of the sacraments of Penance and Holy Communion. He combined catechetical training and fatherly guidance, seeking to unite the spiritual life with one's work, study and play. John was ordained in 1841. His service to young people started when he met a poor orphan and instructed him in preparation for receiving Holy Communion. He then gathered young apprentices and taught them catechesis. Several wealthy and powerful patrons contributed money, enabling him to provide two workshops for the boys, shoemaking and tailoring. By 1856, the institution had grown to 150 boys and had added a printing press for publication of religious and catechetical pamphlets. His interest in vocational education and publishing justify him as patron of young apprentices and Catholic publishers. In 1854 he and his followers informally banded together, inspired by St. Francis de Sales. With Pope Pius IX's encouragement, John gathered 17 men and founded the Salesians in 1859. Their activity concentrated on education and mission work. Later, he organized a group of Salesian Sisters to assist girls.
