

Bring Protect Young Eyes to You!

Raising children how to use technology well is a primary concern for parents today, including teaching them how to use social media responsibly, avoiding pornography, and controlling screen time. Protect Young Eyes can help.

The goals of our parent presentation are to:

- Enlighten parents about the digital culture of kids today so that they can make risk-based decisions about how their own kids should be using technology.
- Encourage parents to be observant, engaged and informed. These three attributes often lead to having children who learn to use technology wisely.
- Equip parents with eight strategies for creating an internet safer home.

Chris McKenna and the Protect Young Eyes team take hundreds of hours of research on the latest tech trends and speak for 90 minutes using statistics, science and stories to achieve the above goals, all through a strong, Biblical lens. Regardless of your technology aptitude, Chris and his team provide practical tools for every family, including information about the latest apps, parental controls on all the devices kids use, and recommendations on filters for different situations.

Within the Diocese of Kalamazoo, we are committed to providing our Catholic schools and parishes with the necessary knowledge and tools to embrace technology for the great resource it is while also giving the recognition and awareness necessary to safely navigate potential dangers. Protect Young Eyes will provide our leadership in schools and parishes the opportunity of bringing this information to parents and concerned adults and foster a culture of safety and comfort in the on-line arena in our buildings and in our homes as well. To host a school or parish event, please see the information below for contacting Protect Young Eyes!
