About the Artist

Rebecca Davy is the Music Director and Organist at historic Bruton Parish Church, where she directs two adult choirs and handbells, plans liturgy, plays for weekly services, and oversees the Candlelight Concert series of more than 130 performances each year.

In the local community, Rebecca is also an active musician. She is the artistic director of the Williamsburg Women’s Chorus, oversees and regularly performs Saturday morning historical organ recitals in the Wren Chapel at the College of William and Mary and performs occasionally with the Williamsburg Symphony Orchestra. Rebecca has concertized widely throughout her career and now plays numerous organ and harpsichord Candlelight Concerts at Bruton Parish each year.

A native of Washington State, Rebecca completed her bachelor of music degree in organ performance at the University of Puget Sound with former National AGO president, Dr. Edward Hansen, and then earned two master’s degrees from the University of Southern California, one in organ performance with Ladd Thomas and another in music history. She began playing the organ at age 10 and was playing for services in her home church by age 11. Before moving with her family to the east coast, Rebecca served as organist and choir director for three prominent churches and a synagogue in the Los Angeles area and has been employed at Bruton Parish since 2004.
