Statement from Archbishop Gregory concerning violence at the U.S. Capitol

I join my brother bishops as well as other civil and religious leaders in condemning the violence at the nation's Capital on Jan. 6. At this moment, I call on all people of good will to commit to prayer for a peaceful transition as President-elect Joe Biden takes office and new members of Congress are sworn in. I pray for the safety of our elected officials, their staff, the security teams and those in attendance.

Our founding fathers set up a system for the peaceful transfer of power. What happened Jan. 6 was a direct attack upon the very principles upon which this nation was founded.

Catholic social teaching helps us focus our efforts on building a just society. In it, we are urged to recognize, respect, and nurture the inherent dignity of each and every person. Violence has no place in this work.

The divisive rhetoric we have witnessed during these last few months is corrosive and dangerous. I call on our Catholic community to commit to words and acts of peace and justice.

The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, in its explanation of Catholic Social teaching, tells us "how we organize our society -- in economics and politics, in law and policy -- directly affects human dignity and the capacity of individuals to grow in community." Our efforts to engage public leaders and seek a just society for all must recognize the human dignity of all, even those with whom we disagree.

There are also masks being left in the sanctuary and thrown on the ground in the parking lot. Please take your masks with you when you leave and don't leave them for someone else to pick up.

Pope Francis calls all of us to feel deeply our stewardship to care for the earth and the poor. As people of faith we honor our Creator as we care for creation.

The Year of St. Joseph

Pope Francis has announced that we will mark this year A.D. 2021 as the Year of St. Joseph. In his apostolic letter Patris Corde, the pope invites us to learn from and be inspired by St. Joseph who shows us what it means to desire and follow God's will in our lives.

“The spiritual path that Joseph traces for us is not one that explains, but accepts. Only as a result of this acceptance, this reconciliation, can we begin to glimpse a broader history, a deeper meaning. Joseph is certainly not passively resigned, but courageously and firmly proactive. In our own lives, acceptance and welcome can be an expression of the Holy Spirit's gift of fortitude. Only the Lord can give us the strength needed to accept life as it is, with all its contradictions, frustrations and disappointments.

God always finds a way to save us, provided we show the same creative courage as the carpenter of Nazareth, who was able to turn a problem into a possibility by trusting always in divine providence. If at times God seems not to help us, surely this does not mean that we have been abandoned, but instead are being trusted to plan, to be creative, and to find solutions ourselves.

Just as God told Joseph: “Son of David, do not be afraid!” (Mt 1:20), so he seems to tell us: “Do not be afraid!” We need to set aside all anger and disappointment, and to embrace the way things are, even when they do not turn out as we wish. Not with mere resignation but with hope and courage. In this way, we become open to a deeper meaning. Our lives can be miraculously reborn if we find the courage to live them in accordance with the Gospel.” (Patris Corde, December 8, 2020)

We begin this new year still feeling the effects of the Covid crisis, aware of our human frailty and in need of the grace of God at each moment of every day. How will you embrace new life this year with creative courage and reliance on God's providence?
