

Miss Emily's daily

2021-2022

Sept 14th, 2021

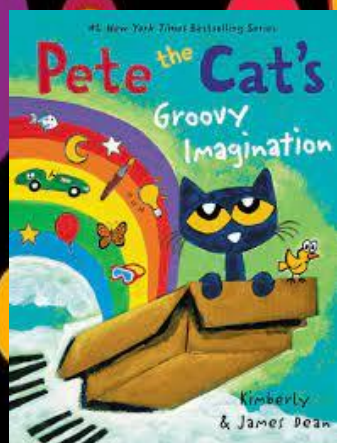

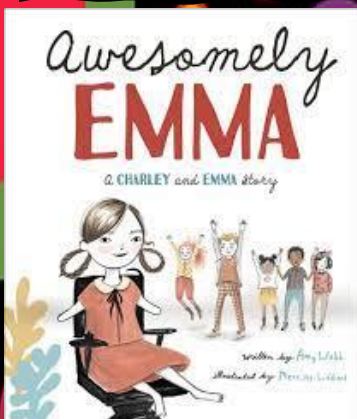

Theme of the week is:
All About Me

The children were invited to do a math activity. They worked with a partner to create a family (3). They were presented with a house. Each house had a different set of colors and numbers. They created a family based off the three colors and numbers written in each shape.

Books of the day:

Awesomely EMMA
Pete the Cat's Groovy Imagination

The children worked with Miss Megan on a fun fine motor, number recognition, and name recognition activity. They were encouraged to paint all over the white piece of paper given to them. Numbers 1-20 and their name were revealed once they painted the paper.

They all got a kick out of this activity. They all thought it was magic!

Religion: ✝

After listening to the story Awesomely Emma, we had a class discussion about differences and acceptance. Compared the play people we have in the block center.

Discussed all the beautiful ways they toy people looked different from each other. We discussed that it is the Godly way to love everyone regardless of what they look like!

Friendly Reminders

- Miss Kissinger from afternoon CARES informed me that some of the children didn't have afternoon snack today. If your child stays passed 4pm, they will need a snack. Myself and Miss Kissinger ask that you label your child's CARES snack (name & PM CARES).

-If you have not emailed me back regarding "homework", please do so as soon as possible.

-I will be emailing some of you regarding the social media form. Please respond back as soon as you can.

-The packet of forms that are on the website/given at Back to School Night, need to be sent back in by this Friday.

-Please send in two packs of baby wipes.

-I have noticed some of the green folders ripping already. I strongly suggest covering it with clear contact paper.

-I plan to send a link to my class Wishlist sometime this week.

-Gym class tomorrow!
