The Nativity of the Lord

Christmas Day

The Word was made flesh. Our thoughts tend to dwell on the baby in the manger; but, there is another message—a challenge for us today. The Word spoke most powerfully in the flesh of Jesus and offers us an example of how we should live. In the centuries since Jesus, many have allowed the Word to become flesh in their lives—some have done it so well that we call them saints. It is easy to miss the point that each of us has the mission and challenge of allowing the Word to take flesh in us—in our life here and now. Consider how you are allowing the Word to become more a part of who you are and how you live your life.

Christmas Reflection

Have you noticed how fond God is of choosing the least likely people to fulfill his will and carry his message? He reveals himself to the world in the form of a helpless baby, and of all things, this baby is born in a stable! The first ones to acknowledge this miracle are ordinary shepherds. The next time you find yourself feeling "unworthy" or too imperfect to be used by God, remember his delight in using the least likely to accomplish his will. No matter who you are or how society may regard you, you can be God's instrument, if you are willing. Are you willing to be used by God?
