SAINT OF THE WEEK:
ST. TERESA OF AVILA
OCTOBER 15
St Teresa, a Doctor of the Church, lived in sixteenth century Spain, an age of exploration, reform and upheaval. She was a contemplative Carmelite nun who was very human, outgoing, adaptable, courageous and enthusiastic. She was wise, yet practical, a mystic yet an energetic reformer. Her heart belonged to God despite an arduous lifelong struggle filled with purification and suffering. She founded six monasteries, traveled, wrote and fought always to renew and reform the Church. Her writings of "A Way of Perfection" and "The Interior Castle" have helped generations of believers. She is a great intercessor for those who desire renewal and growth in faith.

Weekly Message from Deacon Rob on the Readings for Ordinary Time

In times of calamities or despair, even the unbeliever turns to God and seeks His assistance. In response to a positive action by God, promises of undying love and belief sometimes arise in a few who have been moved to faith through miraculous means; however, there are always some who accept the miracle but return eventually, proceed onward, and then revert to their former skepticism, with no acknowledgement of the Divine assistance. On the other hand, believers with deep faith will persevere in their belief in response to their need whether the Divine answer is positive or negative because they have full confidence in the Wisdom of the Divine. Today’s Liturgy reveals this human tendency and emphasizes the fact that God loves and cares for all – believer and non-believer. He offers His assistance out of love but leaves the final solution to the free will of mankind.

In the first reading from the second Book of Kings, an example of a permanently transformed human being is revealed. In today’s reading, Naaman, a military commander afflicted with leprosy, seeks out the prophet of God, Elisha, for a cure. The military commander follows Elisha’s instructions of seven times plunging himself in the Jordan River (seven being the number of perfection) even though he does not understand how it can cure him. Cured, the commander returns and tries to reward the prophet who refuses because God did the curing not Elisha. Naaman requests two loads of local earth and swears he will never offer pagan sacrifices again. Instead, he will use the earth upon which to sacrifice to the One and True God of Israel. He has been transformed from a disease-ridden and proud commander into a healthy and humble servant of the God of Israel. This Old Testament account reveals that God’s love and mercy is for all who will accept it. They need only to ask.

In today’s second reading from the second Letter of St. Paul to Timothy, another transformed man, Paul, reveals this same deep faith in God. The Apostle to the Gentiles tells Timothy that, despite Paul’s former life, his transformation through Christ has allowed him to accept all the misfortunes he has had to endure through the power of the Spirit. It is this Spirit that allows him, and all who likewise receive it, to persevere. Christ, Paul affirms, will remain faithful to His promise to all who have been baptized in Him and persevere because he cannot deny Himself.

Today’s Gospel uses leprosy as a vehicle to reveal God’s response to human physical and spiritual needs as was shown in the first reading. While traveling towards Jerusalem, Christ encounters ten lepers who, following the Law, stand apart and cry out for help. Jesus, noticing their plight, responds by telling them to go and fulfill the ritual requirements of showing themselves to the priests. While travelling, the lepers are cured. One leper, a Samaritan, returned to give thanks to Jesus. Christ takes notice that only one, a foreigner, has returned. He questions the full realization of what had happened to the ten. Only one out of the ten had a complete healing or transformation – recognizing the mercy of God and the role that he played in their lives. This sole leper was sent away healed both physically and spiritually while the other nine apparently had the traditional human reaction – they presumably forgot God and let His Spiritual Gift fade.

Today, we are placed in the position of the lepers. Our sins are more harmful than this dreaded disease. Yet, God, in His Mercy, has chosen to heal us. The question left for is: Are we the one who returns to glorify the Lord or do we continue with our life putting the Divine “in the closet” until we need Him, again? Holy Mother the Church urges us to return to the Lord and give Him the praise that is His due. She reminds us of our human tendency to forget about God and put Him in second place to the rest of our life. The Gospel reminds us that the Divine should be our first, and only, primary concern because all comes from Him who loves us as His children.
