

There are a number of rose bushes on the backside of the rectory, next to the parking lot on the south side.

These need to be maintained regularly, probably every two or three weeks. Father James would like to have a volunteer who will step up to regularly take care of these roses. The volunteer would need to make sure that the rose bushes are trimmed and cared for at they should be. This will be a year-round task, although less frequently in the winter.

If someone does not step up to care for them, then they may be removed and replaced with something different. Thank you for your consideration. Please contact the parish office if you'd like to serve the parish in this way.
