

USCMA Resolution on Nuclear Weapons Reduction
2010 Annual Meeting
Albuquerque, New Mexico

*The eventual elimination of nuclear weapons is more than a moral ideal; it should be a policy goal.”
The Harvest of Justice is Sown in Peace, USCCB, 1993.*

*The horribly destructive capacity of nuclear arms makes them disproportionate and indiscriminate weapons that endanger human life and dignity like no other armaments. Their use as a weapon of war is rejected in Church teaching based on just war norms. Although we cannot anticipate every step on the path humanity must walk, we can point with moral clarity to a destination that moves beyond deterrence to a world free of the nuclear threat....
Francis Cardinal George, OMI, USCCB President, April 8, 2010*

Resolution:

Based on the moral imperative to rid the world of nuclear weapons, we, the US Catholic Mission Association, join the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops in supporting a strong and bi-partisan action on the new Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START) as an important and essential step toward a nuclear-weapons-free future.

President Obama and President Medvedev of Russia signed a new Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START) on April 8, 2010. The New START Treaty: reduces deployed strategic warheads to 1550, 30 percent below the existing ceiling; limits both nations to no more than 700 delivery vehicles; and includes new verification requirements. The Treaty was submitted to the U.S. Senate for ratification on May 13. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is expected to take up a resolution of ratification in mid-September. Then the New START Treaty goes to the full Senate for a vote, but the exact timing is unclear.

Rationale: First proposed by President Ronald Reagan, the United States and Soviet Union signed the original START Treaty in 1991. This treaty limited the number of nuclear warheads and delivery vehicles (missiles and bombers) that each country could deploy.

Today the United States and Russia still hold about 90% of all nuclear weapons, large arsenals left over from the Cold War. Many of these weapons are on immediate alert status.

Ratification of the New START Treaty is critical because verification ensures transparency and these reductions in the number of weapons can set the stage for future reductions. The New START Treaty is also important to international efforts to address nonproliferation. With fewer nuclear weapons in the world, the likelihood of one falling into terrorist hands is reduced and countries are more likely to cooperate in enforcing nonproliferation demands and controlling the supply of nuclear materials.

Nuclear weapons are a grave threat to human life and dignity. Consistent with Catholic teaching, the bishops have long supported securing nuclear materials from terrorists and reducing the number of nuclear armaments. For decades they have promoted the policy goals of preventing proliferation of these horrific weapons and ultimately eliminating them.

Nuclear war is rejected in Church teaching because the use of nuclear weapons cannot insure noncombatant immunity and their destructive potential and lingering radiation cannot be meaningfully proportionate. Pope Benedict XVI said in a January 2006 statement, “In a nuclear war there would be no victors, only victims.”
