PENTECOST

Today we keep another great feast, that of Pentecost, when we remember the coming of the Holy Spirit upon the Apostles. Fifty days ago we celebrated Easter and during that time we have been hearing about the risen Jesus’s appearances to his disciples. Jesus has now returned to the Father (as we reflected upon last week when we explored the meaning of the Ascension of the Lord). Now Jesus fulfills his earlier promise that “the advocate, the Holy Spirit” will be sent to the disciples (John 14: 15-31). The feast of Pentecost concludes the fifty days of our season of Easter (the word “Pentecost” comes from an ancient Greek word “pente-koste”, meaning fifty days.) Well, all of this is fine and good, but what exactly do we celebrate today…?

The feast of Pentecost, like so many of our feast days and prayers, has its roots in a Jewish celebration, namely that of the “first fruits” or “the weeks”. This key feast was celebrated some seven weeks after the Sabbath of the Passover. It was a time to give thanks to God for the first fruits of the spring harvest and to renew the covenant or relationship between God and His people. This gives a clue to many of the things that we celebrate today, especially if we look again at our readings, hymns and prayers at the Mass for Pentecost.

On the day of Pentecost, the apostles were renewed and, in fact changed, in their relationship with God. Before the Holy Spirit came upon them, they were weak and frightened men, cowering in the upper room in fear (as we are told at the beginning of our First Reading in Acts 2: 1-11). After they had received the Holy Spirit they were strengthened and became bold and powerful witnesses to the risen Jesus. In this sense, Pentecost is called “the birthday of the Church.” They received not the first fruits of the spring harvest, but the fruits or gifts of the Holy Spirit: wisdom and understanding, right judgment and courage, knowledge and reverence, wonder and awe. This giving of the gifts of the Holy Spirit is continued in the church through every generation and place seen, above all, in the sacrament of Confirmation.

The Gospel also tells us that the apostles receive the authority to become special instruments of God’s love and mercy as the Holy Spirit is breathed upon them (John 20: 19-23). This also is continued in the Church through the sacrament of ordination. Those who are to be ordained are literally ordered (that is both changed in their very being and also commanded) to be ministers of that same love and mercy through their leadership, their teaching and preaching and through the celebration of the sacraments.

This radical renewal of relationships extends even further. We can notice, for example, how when Peter preaches on the day of Pentecost, each person present understands him in his own language. In other words, the division that can be caused by all the different languages spoken in our world (as we hear in the story of the Tower of Babel in Genesis 11: 1-9) is now overcome by the one message and one language of Jesus Christ. After all, the Holy Spirit is often called the “bond of love” or the “Spirit of unity”. So, today, with this wonderful feast of Pentecost, we also celebrate the unity that following Jesus and having faith in him can bring: we are indeed one family, brothers and sisters, in Jesus Christ.

As our season of Easter comes to its close, let us give thanks for the first fruits or the gifts of the Holy Spirit that we have received. It is a good time to renew our appreciation of those seven gifts of the Holy Spirit and also to realize, once again, that these gifts are given to us to be shared with others. All of us have received that mission, or even commission, to preach the Gospel. We often do this simply by trying to live and to witness to our faith in the everyday events and encounters that make up our daily life. Let us, like the apostles, not cower in some upper room, but rather boldly go out and witness to our faith.

Fr. Anthony

SAINT OF THE WEEK
OSCAR ROMERO
1917-1980

Oscar Arnulfo Romero y Galdámez was born on August 15, 1917, in Ciudad Barrios, El Salvador. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1942 and appointed archbishop of El Salvador’s capital, San Salvador, in February 1977, at a time when reports of human rights violations by government troops and death squads were on the rise.

A little more than a month after his appointment to San Salvador, Archbishop Romero’s close friend and minister to El Salvador’s campesinos, Jesuit Fr. Rutilio Grande, was assassinated. Later that same year, El Salvador’s right-wing government was overthrown, and civil war erupted.

On March 23, 1980, Archbishop Romero delivered a homily in which he asked Salvadoran soldiers to disobey orders to kill their countrymen. The very next day, he was gunned down by an assassin while celebrating Mass in a hospital chapel in San Salvador.

The Vatican Congregation for the Causes of Saints authorized the opening of Oscar Romero’s cause for sainthood in 1993. On February 4, 2015, Pope Francis declared Romero a martyr, opening the way for his beatification, which will take place on May 23, 2015, in El Salvador.

SALT AND LIGHT
FOOD FOR THOUGHT
Catholic News Service

Never in history has there been so much opportunity to get a message across. And no one knows that better than Pope Francis.

As a newly minted pontiff, he gathered journalists who had covered the conclave and his subsequent rise to the highest rung of the Catholic Church, addressing them as “dear friends.” Since then, he’s used letters to the editor, Twitter, a highly publicized and impromptu press conference aboard a plane on the way back from World Youth Day in Rio de Janeiro, and now, the pages of the Jesuit-run America magazine (and other Jesuit publications) to get out a message he wants heard, and that message is the Gospel.

With the exception of Christmas and Easter messages, popes mostly have been heard and read by the faithful, their encyclicals parsed by theologians or canon law experts.

But this pope’s facility of language, transparency, and knowledge of the reach of mass media has led him to be read by non-Catholics and nonbelievers.

Regardless of whether they agree with him, it’s hard to deny that a lot of people, including many news organizations that normally wouldn’t cover the Catholic Church, are paying attention to what he is saying.

FACT OF FAITH
NOSTRA AETATE
by Rev. Larry Rice, CSP

As more and more of the conflicts in the world seem to have religious roots, or at least are expressed in religious language, it might be instructive to look at the basis for how Catholics and Muslims relate to one another. The seminal document that guides relations between the Church and non-Christians is the 1965 declaration Nostra Aetate. In Section 3, it reads:

The Church regards with esteem also the Moslems. They adore the one God, living and subsisting in Himself; merciful and all-powerful, the Creator of heaven and earth, who has spoken to men; they take pains to submit wholeheartedly to even His inscrutable decrees, just as Abraham, with whom the faith of Islam takes pleasure in linking itself, submitted to God. Though they do not acknowledge Jesus as God, they revere Him as a prophet. They also honor Mary, His virgin Mother, at times they even call on her with devotion. In addition, they await the day of judgment when God will render their deserts to all those who have been raised up from the dead. Finally, they value the moral life and worship God especially through prayer, almsgiving and fasting.

The document continues:

Since in the course of centuries not a few quarrels and hostilities have arisen between Christians and Moslems, this sacred synod urges all to forget the past and to work sincerely for mutual understanding and to preserve as well as to promote together for the benefit of all mankind social justice and moral welfare, as well as peace and freedom.

In its final paragraph, Nostra Aetate rejects as foreign to the mind of Christ any discrimination or harassment of anyone based on race, color, condition of life, or religion, and calls on Catholics to live in peace with all people.

Fr. Rice is the vocations director for the Paulist Fathers.

Parish Nurse Nancy Acemoglu, RN

Nurses notes...

Just a thought...

Week after week this Parish completes one project and just naturally moves on to the next, hardly sometimes with a moment or a real opportunity to take a deep breathe and reflect on the vast complexity of what makes up Parish life, with all the behind the scene things which go into each project.

Volunteers are such a vibrant part of this mix, donating time, donating money, purchasing goods, and making countless trips outside this building to insure the project is done right and is completed.

May we never for a moment forget these significant people we call “Parish”. May you know how much you are appreciated and valued and how you are part of each and every thing we do here.

This came to me as I see Ruth Lapierre come day after day, week after week in her plight of wanting to help others, especially in times of sadness and need. Having been widowed at a very young age, she never stopped with her volunteerism and help and concern for others. She is active with Bereavement support. She was recently presented with a citation from the County Legislative office for her many contributions to the Parish and wider Community.

“Yay Ruth”
Bethlehem Wood Carving
Bethlehem Wood Carving will be visiting our parish on behalf of the Catholic Christian family of the holy land on May 23rd & 24th. For centuries, the Christians of Bethlehem district have earned a living by carving olive wood religious art to sell to visiting pilgrims. Fewer pilgrims are journeying to the holy land today, making it difficult for Christian artisans to support their families through the dignified work of their hands in the land of Christ’s birth.

Because of the lack of work, there has been a dramatic rise in Christian emigration from the holy land, leaving only 2% of the population in the holy land as Christian. Since the start of its mission, Bethlehem Wood Carving has helped hundreds of struggling families.

Louie, through his own experience as founder, has made it possible for the Catholic Christian in the holy land to maintain both their livelihood and their ancestral homes in the land of Christ. Your purchase will make a difference in the lives of many Christians. We gladly accept all major credit cards.

Rosary Walk for Life
Please come and join Bishop Edward Scharfenberger on Thursday, May 28th at 6:00 PM to pray for a growth in the culture of life. We will gather at historic St. Mary’s on Lodge & Pine Sts., in Albany at 6:00 PM followed by recitation of the Mysteries of the Rosary and a procession on the public sidewalks around the Capitol. We will pray for an end to abortion and for all people relegated to the margins of society.

In the words of Pope Francis, “Let us say ‘Yes’ to life and not death. Let us say ‘Yes’ to freedom and not enslavement to the many idols of our time. In a word, let us say ‘Yes’ to the God who is love, life and freedom, and who never disappoints. … Let us ask Mary, Mother of Life, to help us receive and bear constant witness to the ‘Gospel of Life. Come join us and pray for life!

Thank You
I want to thank everyone who helped with the Holy Week events, Confirmation and First Communion receptions. Also, to all our parishioners who made soups, baked desserts, served, cleaned up and supported our events. Your kindness & generosity is truly appreciated. I wish all of you a wonderful summer.

Thanks again,
Donna Sabatino & Martha Ministry
