Today we celebrate “Corpus Christi”, the feast of the sacrament of the Body and Blood of Christ. In this great sacrament we have an abiding memorial of the presence of Jesus to us in every place and age. Here we have two key words that tell us about the Eucharist: memorial and presence. The Eucharist is a memorial: not just a remembering in the usual way, but a making present, here and now of our Lord. Our Lord said: “Do this in memory of me”: and so we do. The Eucharist is also about the presence of Jesus – a real presence. Again, we remember the words of Jesus: “This is my body...this is my blood.” All the sacraments make Jesus present in some way and continue His saving work, but it is only in the Eucharist that we have this real or what is often called a “substantial” presence of Jesus.

Sometimes people have a problem with this realism and presence: do we really eat Jesus’ body and drink His blood? How can Jesus be present in the Eucharist when He is in heaven, or how can He be present in so many places at once? We need to remember that His presence is a sacramental one; a presence that is certainly real, but that also transcends time and space. Jesus is truly present to us in a new way in the Eucharist – a presence that is substantial and real, and this presence is under the appearance of bread and wine that symbolize His body and blood.

We can also recall that the Eucharist is about action and imitation. The final purpose of the Eucharist is to feed us and sustain us so that we can follow Jesus more faithfully. When we receive the Eucharist, the priest or minister says, “the body of Christ”, and we respond “amen” (meaning “so be it”). The Eucharist is indeed the body of Christ, but then so are we. The amen that we say should also mean that we will try and be more like Christ and so build up His body, the Church. In the Eucharist then, we are called to become more and more like the one whom we receive: Jesus Christ. After all, we call the Eucharist “Holy Communion” and so it is! It is a holy communion between Jesus Christ and all of us and it should also be a real sign of the communion of love that exists between all the members of the Church community.

So today we give thanks for the great gift of the Eucharist. It has been described as the “source and summit” of the life of the Church. Let us never take this great gift for granted and let us renew our own thanksgiving each time we receive Holy Communion. Remember too that the Day Chapel is open during the week (from around 6.00 am until the evening) so that you can come in and spend a few moments of prayer before the sacrament. Finally, many thanks must go to all our parish Eucharistic Ministers who help at Mass and who take Communion to the homebound and the sick.

Fr. Anthony

Fr. Anthony
If you’re reading this, chances are you were born into the Church, that you were baptized as a baby and that you made your First Communion around the 2nd grade.

But that’s not the case with everyone. I’ve been fortunate to know a number of people who became Catholic later in life. Of all the reasons I’ve heard from people who chose to enter the Church, the Sacraments tend to be at the top of the list...specifically the Eucharist.

I can think of adults who were so nervous and excited to receive Jesus so intimately in the Eucharist for the first time. They had an attitude that I did not have at my First Communion or even that last Sunday. It felt like one of those humbling times in life when you see someone receive the money they need to feed their family or pay a utility bill when you yourself are used to spending your extra money on entertainment or a nice meal.

The Eucharist is a great gift and, like any gift, it’s easy to take it for granted. I would challenge you to try and see the Eucharist through the eyes of someone who waited and prepared to receive the Eucharist, sometimes with both joy and nervousness. Whether you are heading into Mass or just leaving, the Almighty Creator God of the entire universe desires to be so close to you that He died for your sins on a cross, rose again, and now chooses to be close to you through humble bread and wine...all because He loves you.

-Tom Acemoglu

Do you have a child in high school? Perhaps a niece, nephew or grandchild in high school?

Would you like them to grow in their faith and have an experience of a lifetime? This youth conference is their chance. Invite them, encourage them, persuade them to attend and bring their friends. This weekend event has given the opportunity to thousands of teens to see what Jesus Christ has for them in their lives and how they can have a personal relationship with Him. It is all about Love because God is Love and He desires our friendship to get ever stronger.

“Nothing is more practical than finding God, that is, than falling in love in a quite absolute, final way. What you are in love with, what seizes your imagination, will affect everything. It will decide what will get you out of bed in the morning, what you do with your evenings, how you spend your weekends, what you read, who you know, what breaks your heart and what amazes you with joy and gratitude. Fall in love, stay in love, and it will decide everything.” Pedro Arrupe SJ

Jesus said “I have Come to set the earth on fire, and oh how I wish it was Already blazing!

Luke 12:49

Fathers Day Reflection

Such a special day set aside to reflect on that special love a Father brings.

Fathers strength and wisdom seem a natural component of what it takes to be a Father.

A courageous example of what is good in the world, a selfless person who puts their family first. A treasure, a confidant, a person who you never grow away from in your need to share their company, good advice or phone calls.

A Father is a true blessing from God. How fortunate to have a Father, and how sad and devastating to lose Him. He is that treasure that holds the depth of your memories as a child, for as long as you have him, and forever after. A Father shares his own spot, and it is a place that is reserved for just him.. He is your first teacher.

I am so thankful to have had such an amazing Dad. I am so grateful for my Husband, and the Father he was to the boys, right until the end. I now love to watch my son with his little girls, and see the Father he has become. Life does change, yet each integral person that has passed lives on in their new little “descendants”, showing God’s hope of promise that life continues.

St. Ambrose School could be the place for you?
