Rev. John Rooney, Pastor

Dear Engaged Couple,

Thank you for your recent inquiry regarding the Sacrament of Matrimony and for contacting St. Mary Parish regarding your wedding plans. Marriage is one of the most important commitments you will make during the course of your life. Because of its importance, the following points are important in regard to your plans.

The Sacrament of Marriage is part of the faith life of the individual. It is also an extension of the life of faith of the community. As part of the journey toward marriage, we ask that couples register in our parish and share our Sunday worship six months prior to the beginning of the marriage preparation process.

Marriage is the one Sacrament that is administered by the couple to each other. The Catholic Church beginning in the 1960's, required that couples undergo a marriage preparation process (sometimes referred to as Pre Cana) of 4 to 6 months in duration. This process has enabled couples to have a stronger marriage long-term and a greater chance of true success. The marriage preparation process begins with a meeting of the couple with a priest or deacon. The second part of the preparation process consists of participation and completion of the sponsor couple program offered through our parish. The priest or deacon will provide details at the initial meeting.

A particular area of concern in marriage preparation is the issue of co-habitation of couples. In our society it has become more and more acceptable for couples to live together prior to their marriage. Although this may seem like a socially acceptable action, clergy, as well as psychologists have found that it is the one single factor that can have the most damaging effects for a lifelong commitment. The changing spiritual and personal dynamics of a couple moving from a cohabitating to a marital commitment has in some instances caused up to a 60% greater chance of divorce in the life of the future marriage. We ask that you seriously consider the implications of this before beginning the marriage preparation process. This may be a factor in the type of wedding ceremony that will be celebrated.

When the couple meets with the priest or deacon for the first time, specific details, such as the date and time of the marriage will be arranged. Marriages are not scheduled during Lent.

Thank you again for considering the importance of the marriage, not so much as a social act, but an act of two people of faith. We look forward to working with you.

In Christ,

Rev. John Rooney
Pastor
