My Dear Parish Family:

Our readings this week continue to teach us about prayer and the importance of lifting our voices to God in all humility. In the Book of Sirach, we witness a just and passionate God who is merciful to those in need; to those suffering injustice and those who willingly serve with justice. Our service is not out of obligation or duty or even habit, but we serve because it is right. This is what God asks of us.

In Luke’s Gospel, Jesus presents two very different people who come to the Temple to pray: the Pharisee and the tax collector. The Pharisee focuses on himself and his accomplishments, all the while demeaning others. In contrast, the tax collector’s humble prayer allowed him to strip himself of all his burdens, begging simply for God’s mercy; his sincere contrition opens his heart and mind to the realization that his life depends solely on God.

In assisting with the preparation of funeral Masses, part of the process is to discuss the life of the deceased. Often family members speak about the wonderful meals prepared by their mother, grandmother or aunt and all the recipes that were left to them. I smile because those recipes for making delicious sauce or “the best ever biscotti cookies” will live on for future generations.

Saint Paul, knowing that death is near, writes his letter to Timothy from prison. Paul’s letter is so rich in substance, action and purpose. He preserved his faith in and through his life’s cross. In all humility Paul knew God’s love and mercy for him and was certain of the glory that awaited him, “the crown of righteousness” in the heavenly kingdom. Paul is telling Timothy and future leaders that his legacy rests in the Lord who stood by him in his trials and gave him strength to proclaim the Good News to those most in need. Yes, Paul competed well and finished the race, and he did it maintaining his faith. Saint Paul’s legacy was to give glory to God.

Many of us don’t want to think about our own mortality, but in reality, we should. In your quiet moments with God you may want to pray about your legacy – what will you leave behind to family and friends? Yes, you may leave recipes or words of wisdom on many topics, or even monetary gifts, but can you think of anything more important than leaving your example of how and why you came to love God? What was your journey like? How did you carry your Crosses? When you strayed, what brought you back? What was it like when God became the center of your life? When and how did you know that your life depended solely on God? This is your (and my) legacy. Giving them our own personal “epistle”, in authentic and sincere humility, is a greater gift that anything we can bequeath to those we love.

Like Saint Paul, our day is near whether it is tomorrow or in a hundred tomorrows. Let us live our lives so we, too, may say “I have competed well, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. The crown of righteousness awaited Saint Paul and it awaits all of us who have longed for his appearance.

In Christ,

Anne De Marco, Pastoral Minister
