Dear Parish Family,

This weekend, we read from Matthew’s gospel from the beginning of the Sermon on the Mount in which Jesus teaches His disciples and us how to live our human lives on earth as God intends. Our Lord takes this opportunity to preach the good news, to evangelize the people of His time and call them to a deeper holiness. The primary virtue we hear is that of humility. We practice this virtue whenever we realize our utter dependence on God for all that we are and all that we accomplish. In last week’s gospel, we recall that Jesus chose simple fishermen to be His closest disciples and eventually apostles. He did this to remind us that it is only in the power of the Holy Spirit that we perform the works of God as human persons.

Today, Jesus begins the sermon by giving us the beatitudes, the guidelines for living the Christian life. These were counter-cultural when Jesus spoke them and still are today. What our Lord calls “blessed” did not correlate to mere human understanding. But Jesus is calling us to a new way of living. This way leads us to a deeper relationship with Him and helps keep us grounded and humble. The beatitudes are not suggestions, but instructions on how to live and know we are blessed by God. Let us reflect on how we can live them out well as we grow as Christ’s disciples.

LIVING THE BEATITUDES

Blessed are we when we are Poor in Spirit by living in the Holy Spirit and realize, in humility, that no worldly power or prestige gives us true happiness.

Blessed are we who mourn when we allow ourselves to become vulnerable by giving our love away even when others may reject it – God still comforts us.

Blessed are we when we are meek and renounce power and violence to acquire happiness and, therefore, truly find it.

Blessed are we when we hunger and thirst for righteousness by caring for the needs of others as more important than our own – this truly satisfies us.

Blessed are we when we are merciful by letting go of our anger, resentment, and vengeance – this allows us to forgive others as God forgives us.

Blessed are we when we are clean of heart by being sincere, truthful, and honest in how we live our lives each day – in this way we see Christ in others.

Blessed are we when we are peacemakers by promoting forgiveness and reconciliation among others.

Blessed are we when we are persecuted by persevering in doing all of the above despite the ridicule or the cost – we become worthy of the Kingdom of heaven.

In Christ,
Fr. Joe Previte
