My Dear Parish Family:

How many of us have children, grandchildren, nieces or nephews who have strayed from God and His Church? How many of us have strayed, each time we failed to follow the path prepared for us by God our Father? Jesus, in His very vivid and practical parables explains life’s turns and twists, gives us hope that ultimately nothing or no one can steal our faith from us if we choose to remain with HIM.

How does it all happen? How do the weeds grow wild and multiply among the wheat, threatening to destroy what was originally planted in good fertile soil? There is potential in every plant that is put into the earth. There is goodness and potential in every child that is born of God, but that very goodness and potential can be stunted, dissuaded and even temporarily erased from the heart by the challenges of this world. Young people are influenced by what surrounds them in a world that diminishes religion and the name of God as our creator; where the Bible is a collection of “fairytale’s” and where one’s freedom means to do whatever one pleases, regardless of the consequences. These are the weeds that entangle one’s life, confuses and distacts from that which is true and good.

In His second parable, Jesus speaks of a farmer who allows the weed to grow until harvest. His patience emulates God’s mercy for us in our sinfulness. Those of us who have been walking this journey for some years have come to know His mercy. God has allowed us to experience the growing pains, the hardships, and our own stubbornness that eventually, through the prayers of our parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, brought us to a place of accepting and living in our Father’s Love.

While living through the growing pains and struggles, we most likely questioned God about the “whys” of it all. It may have taken 20, 30 or more years to realize what God wanted for us: patience – we weren’t ready – we had to learn – to live and come to know the importance of humility and complete surrender to God our Father.

For those among us who find themselves entangled among the weeds and are confused, whose family or friends have abandoned what we now know is life-giving, should not – cannot lose hope. Jesus reassures us that the smallest seed can produce the largest plant; the yeast, almost invisible when blended into the flour, becomes nourishment for many. You and I are among the smallest of seeds that can grow through God’s grace, and with all humility, produce much fruit for His kingdom that is here and now.

When the “whys” become overwhelming and the weeds begin to thicken, Saint Paul tells us to pray as best we can and allow the Holy Spirit to speak for us. There are times that the best we can do is to be still and allow our hearts to talk to God. Saint Paul tells us that in our weakness, the Spirit will intercede on our behalf.

Yes, today, through His parables, Jesus has given us great hope in reassuring us of God’s patience, His mercy and His love. Let us never cease praying for those whose eyes, minds and hearts need to open to the truths of what faith and God’s Church will joyfully offer them. May we continue to be builders of His kingdom now and beyond our own harvest here on earth.

Let us never forget those who prayed for us along the way.

In Christ,

Anne De Marco, Pastoral Minister
