Living marriage is an art, a patient, beautiful, fascinating journey. It does not end once you have won each other’s love. Rather, it is precisely there where it begins! This journey of every day has a few rules that can be summed up in three phrases: May I, can I; thank you; and I’m sorry.

“Can I, may I?” This is the polite request to enter the life of another with respect and care. One should learn how to ask: May I do this? Would you like us to do this? In short, to ask permission means to know how to enter with courtesy into the lives of others. Sometimes, however, manners are used in a heavy way, like hiking boots! True love does not impose itself harshly and aggressively. Yes, courtesy kindles love. Today in our families, in our world, which is frequently violent and arrogant, there is so much need for courtesy.

“Thank you.” It seems so easy to say these words, but we know that it is not. But it is important! We teach it to children, but then we ourselves forget it! Gratitude is an important sentiment! Do you remember the Gospel of Luke? Jesus heals ten lepers and then only one returns to say thank you to Jesus. The Lord says: and the other nine, where are they? This also holds true for us: do we know how to give thanks? In married life, it is important to keep alive the awareness that the other person is a gift from God — and for the gifts of God we say thank you! You need to know how to say thank you in order to go forward in a good way together in married life.

The third: “I’m sorry.” In life we err frequently, we make many mistakes. We all do. Perhaps not a day goes by without making some mistake. Hence the need to use these simple words: “I’m sorry.” In general, each of us is ready to accuse the other and to justify ourselves. This began with our father Adam, when God asks him: “Adam, have you eaten of the fruit?” “Me? No! It was her, she gave it to me!” Accusing the other to avoid saying “I’m sorry” or “forgive me,” it’s an old story! It is an instinct that stands at the origin of so many disasters. Let us learn to acknowledge our mistakes and to ask for forgiveness. “Forgive me if today I raised my voice”; “I’m sorry if I passed without greeting you”; “excuse me if I was late” … or “very silent”… or “if I spoke too much without ever listening”; “excuse me if I forgot”; “I’m sorry I was angry and I took it out on you.” We can say many “I’m sorry” every day. In this way, too, a Christian family grows.

We all know that the perfect family does not exist, nor a perfect husband or wife. Jesus, who knows us well, teaches us a secret: don’t let a day end without asking forgiveness, without peace returning to our home, to our family. It is normal for a husband and wife to quarrel… Perhaps you were mad, perhaps plates flew, but please remember this: never let the sun go down without making peace! Never, never, never! This is a secret, a secret for maintaining love and making peace. Pretty words are not necessary… Sometimes just a simple gesture and… peace is made. Never let a day end… for if you let the day end without making peace, the next day what is inside of you is cold and hardened and it is even more difficult to make peace. Remember well: never end the day without making peace!

SEEK Sign-ups Open this Week!

As a couple of you know, this year we received a grant to take a group of students to FOCUS’s SEEK Conference in Indianapolis in January! For those of you who don’t know, SEEK is an annual conference put on by the fantastic organization the Fellowship of Catholic University Students in order to fill the hearts of Catholic Students and equip them to serve the will of the Lord on their campuses. This conference is life-changing for so many who attend it, and this may be the best opportunity you’ll ever have to do it!

SEEK will take place the second-to-last week of Winter Break, from January 3-7. With our grant, we’re able to reduce the typical $600.00 cost of the conference to $75.00 for the whole week, with everything included! Students can either provide their own transportation to Indianapolis or carpool from Campus with us. We’ve already had 3 spots fill up and we’ve got 3 left! Please let me know if you would like to attend no later than Sunday, October 21!
