Reflection for the First Week of Lent:

There is a saying that people who view life through rose-colored glasses have a tendency to be happier and optimistic about most everything. This view may provoke a negative reaction from some who view such an individual as merely unrealistic and naive – especially given the complications of modern life. However, the concept of adjusting one’s viewpoint or “lens” through which we see life intrigues me as we begin another Lenten season, again seeking to grow closer to our Savior, Jesus Christ. We are invited to journey with Jesus to Calvary, and then ultimately celebrate the glorious joy of Easter.

During a recent Women’s Ministry meeting, we discussed the Story of a Soul, the autobiography of St. Thérèse of Lisieux, the Little Flower. Thérèse entered the Carmelite convent in Lisieux, France, at the age of 15, dying from tuberculosis at the age of 24. Our conversation in part revolved around how focused Thérèse was from an early age on the status of the souls around her. Thérèse prayed that the temptations of life would not prove too strong. It is obvious that the fertile environment of faith in which Thérèse was nurtured during her early years at home led to her fervent prayer and intimate spiritual relationship with Jesus. What matters is “not great deeds but great love.” Thérèse seemed to view life through a particular lens that filtered out the distractions of life and focused on the status of one’s soul – only safe if it was growing closer each day to Jesus Christ.

The Gospel today tells of the temptation of Christ. Imagine the ultimate superhero – fully human and fully divine! That is Jesus Christ. Though tempted with every desire in this earthly life, He resisted earthly comfort and quick satisfaction, choosing instead to embark willingly upon a journey of denial, condemnation and death – completely in service to others and ultimately for the salvation of all souls (including yours and mine!).

This is the same journey that Thérèse embraced and which we too are invited to share. St. Thérèse dedicated her short life to doing everything for Christ, with great love. This simplicity was not to serve herself, but to pray for others and to act lovingly in her “little way.” She was named a Doctor of the Church in 1997 and provides an example of how to live a life of faith in modern times.

Perhaps this Lent we can adjust our viewpoint and see the world through more rose-colored glasses...but not naively so. St. Thérèse, the Little Flower, (often depicted holding roses) is a wonderful model for how we can consciously view the world differently, growing more patient so we forgive others more quickly, grow closer to Jesus, do simple kindnesses each day, shed our self-centeredness and fear – and focus more on Jesus Christ’s love each and every day.

St. Thérèse of Lisieux, Pray for Us.

Peace,
Tammy Moore, Pastoral Associate
