Back to School Supplies – Special Collection for the Saint Vincent de Paul Society
This year, we are seeking monetary donations to be used by the Saint Vincent de Paul Society for their back-to-school supply drive. Instead of taking a trip to the store, all you’ll need to do is place some cash in one of the collection envelopes available by the church exits and the shopping will be done for you.

Each year, the St. Vincent de Paul Society hosts this collection. Your gift of only $17.00 will enable them to provide a complete back-to-school supply kit for one child. Please make a generous donation in any amount and return the envelope in the offertory collection or drop off at the Parish Office by Sunday, July 21st.

Thank you in advance for your generosity.

Are You a Registered Parishioner?
If you have been attending Mass at Holy Rosary but haven’t yet registered, we invite you to please call the Parish Office at (216) 421-2995. We look forward to officially welcoming you to Holy Rosary!

Reflection on Sunday’s Gospel,
Luke 10:1-12, 17-20

In this weekend’s Gospel, we are presented with several well-known Scripture quotes shared in the Gospel of Luke.

The passage begins with Jesus appointing seventy-two individuals sent out before Him in pairs to unfamiliar towns that He later planned to visit. Jesus sends them forth saying:

The harvest is abundant, but the laborers are few.

That is a familiar Gospel quote which hopefully acts as a springboard for our own action as Christians. The gifts of the Lord are indeed abundant, but so many of us pass through life and don’t recognize the true source of the everyday blessings in our lives. All that we see, experience, share and do is a gift from God!

These missionaries of Jesus are compared to laborers during a harvest, but they are also recipients of serious words of caution and direction, “Go, on your way; behold I am sending you like lambs among wolves. Carry no money bag, no sack, no sandals and greet no one along the way.” This is an unsettling message because of the seriousness of the mission. Like in last week’s Gospel, we can easily understand that we are being directed not to burden ourselves with the false security of possessions or the comforts of this earthly life. We can acknowledge the gifts shared by others which ultimately are from God, but we are not to be disturbed when trouble awaits.

Ultimately, the message is that the “kingdom of God is at hand” which may cause those who hear it to wonder if this is a message that should be responded to immediately. For the people of the apostolic age as well as for those of us living in modern times, the answer is yes!

Jesus tells the seventy-two not to rejoice in the wonders and miracles of their day in which He gave them power over demons and they returned unharmed. Instead, they are to rejoice because their names “are written in heaven.”

We can go about our lives taking our blessings for granted, working hard to achieve possessions and financial security for ourselves, but the things of this world pale in comparison to what awaits us in the heavenly kingdom. We must then shift our focus and instead be single-minded in the service of our Lord and in the service of others.

This Gospel expresses that we should not journey alone. The seventy-two were sent out in pairs – with a companion for the missionary journey. God provides a bountiful harvest, but unless there are many workers to gather the fruit, much is left on the vine to wither and die. We are called into action each day because the kingdom of God truly is at hand. It is present in part here and now on earth, and someday we hope to share in the full joy of the Kingdom of God in heaven.
