The Rosary: A Sure Way for Family Peace and Prosperity

Friends,

We have already begun an Online Bible Study Program on the Gospel of St. Luke. There is still time to join for those who have not had an opportunity. Please go to our website to sign up.

Many seniors in our communities will say that the Catholic Church never encouraged them to read the Bible when growing up. After Vatican Council II, there has been a greater emphasis in the reading and studying of the Scriptures. According to Vatican II's Dei Verbum 21, "The Church has always venerated the Scriptures just as she venerates the body of the Lord, since, especially in sacred liturgy, she unceasingly receives and offers to the faithful the bread of life from the table both of God's Word and of Christ's Body." It states that just as the Eucharist is important to our faith, so also are the Scriptures.

Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI says, "In 12th-century monasteries the theological method mainly entailed the explanation of Sacred Scripture ... The monks, in other words, were devout listeners to and readers of the Sacred Scriptures and one of their chief occupations consisted in lectio divina." He explained what lectio divina is in his address to the world youth day in 2007. "A time-honored way to study and savor the word of God is lectio divina which constitutes a real and veritable spiritual journey marked out in stages. After the lectio, which consists of reading and rereading a passage from Sacred Scripture, and taking in the main elements, we proceed to meditatio. This is a moment of interior reflection in which the soul turns to God and tries to understand what his word is saying to us today. Then comes oratio in which we linger to talk with God directly. Finally, we come to contemplatio. This helps us to keep our hearts attentive to the presence of Christ whose word is "a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts"

(2 Pet 1:19). Pope Francis gives a practical way to reading the Bible: "Read a page of the Gospel every day, for "10, 15 minutes and no more," keep your "eyes fixed on Jesus" in order to imagine yourself "in the scene and to speak with Jesus" about what comes from the heart. These are the characteristics of "contemplative prayer," a true source of hope for our life."

May His Name be Glorified,

Fr. Tomi
