November 1, 2020

31th Sunday of Ordinary Time

Dear Friends,

I must thank all of you who worked hard to make Grave Blessings a great experience. We will continue to pray for all the dearly beloved deceased members of our Parish Family in the month of November. We will leave all of your envelopes with the names of your loved ones on our altars during the month of November, and pray for them every time we offer the Mass. If you have not sent your envelopes in yet, there's still time.

On November 1st, we will celebrate the feast of All Saints. You might ask, "Why do we celebrate a special day for the saints when we have celebrations for each saint a separate day?" It is true that every officially recognized saint in the Catholic Church has a particular day on which they are celebrated. However, the list of officially recognized saints (also known as the "canon of saints") does not contain every human soul that shares eternal life in communion with God. There are undoubtedly many unknown women and men who lived in deep communion with God in this life (see Revelation 7:9). The saints are one with us in the church because the bonds of our baptism are stronger than death itself. As such, the saints remain members of the family of God and give strength to the body of Christ. They care about us, pray for us, and continue to inspire us to live holy and heroic lives by imitating their examples of faithful friendship with Jesus.

Since saints persevered faithfully through the trials of this life and now share fully in the heavenly life of God, we refer to the saints as members of the "Church Triumphant" because they share in the victory of Jesus, the Lamb of God. This designation helps to establish both the relationship and the distinction between them and us, the "Church Militant" (engaged in the Christian struggle of fidelity), and the poor souls in purgatory, the "Church Suffering," who are experiencing the purification of God's love freeing them from all attachment to sin. Together we are one church and for that reason we pray for each other.

Saints of God, pray for us!
