Dear Friends,

Today we begin the holy and sacred Triduum, the three-days-as-one where we celebrate and remember Jesus’ Last Supper, Passion, and Resurrection as a continual feast. And indeed it is a feast. Jesus gives us His Body and Blood in the Eucharist but not before His act of love and concern as He washes the feet of the disciples and witnessing to them and to us how we are called to lives of love, care and service to one another in His name.

There is no Mass this morning. The Mass of the Lord's Supper is celebrated in the evening. We will be posting this on the parish website this evening. We enter this sacred time with hearts open, hungering to receive the Lord's gift of Himself this year more than ever. But as you pray and reflect on what Jesus has done for us all, experience His presence in your heart. Know that He fills each of us with His love, and wishes us true and lasting peace.

May this day be for all of us an opportunity to experience Jesus in a new and wonderful way. May God bless each of us!

Father Fred
