

Fr. Fred Liccio

Dear Friends,

I'm no different than any of you. My mailbox and my emails are just as full these days as ever with ads, asks, and offers. I've shared a couple of these with you over these months.

Lately I received an email from GIA Publications, Inc (Music for the Church) regarding a new album they recorded and released just before the Covid-19 crisis. The music is from the group called The Aeolians from Oakwood University, and has some beautiful songs and hymns.

Below are links to the GIA Site and a chance to hear a sampling of all the songs on the album. But one stood out to me in particular, We Shall Overcome. I am also adding the link to their virtual performance done last April because of the pandemic. This is not a political statement, but a song and prayer that can apply to each of us during the pandemic, and from other problems in our world today. Please pray with me and them as you hear this familiar song done in a new and meaningful format as we pray for healing and safety from the virus.

May the Lord bless us with healing, and lead us to His everlasting joy and peace.
