

The Catholic Community of St. Thomas More Return to Jerusalem Task Force

Winston Liao, MPH, holds a degree in public health and was the state epidemiologist for respiratory diseases (retired in 2012). NC Division of Public Health & Epidemiologist, NC Asthma Program, Chronic Disease and Injury Section and Pulmonary Task Force.

Carlos Lima, Carlos Lima holds a Master in Business Administration from the Instituto de Estudios Superiores en Administracion in Venezuela. While working on his MBA he attended Chapel Hill as an exchange student during the fall of 1988, and moved from Venezuela to the area with his family in July of 2001. After presiding the Home and School Association at St Thomas More School during the 2004-05 school year, he joined the parish staff in May 2005, where he serves as Director of Operations and Finance.

Jeff Malkovsky holds undergraduate degrees in Economics & Resource Management and an MBA degree in International Finance. He is certified Complex Risk Management & Threat Assessment. Jeff's senior executive positions include Chairman, CEO, COO & CFO Complex Global Risk Management Companies & Operations. He is certified in Kidnap & Extraction Incident Response & Recovery, Dept of Homeland Security - Advanced Incident Management and with NC Training for domestic abuse. Jeff is registered with US State Department - Executive Safety & Security. Jeff is currently working on certification training for EMT & Emergency Medical Response. He assists as team leader for Advanced Tactical training programs and is the Head of Safety & Security Team for STM Church & School. Jeff is the author of Security Framework for Schools & Houses of Worship and Situational Awareness Levels I & II.

Marcia Morgenlander, MD is a 1988 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. She completed her Pediatric Residency at Duke University Medical Center in 1991. She has worked in pediatric urgent care and outpatient pediatrics since that time. She is interested in Adverse Childhood Experiences and Adolescent Risk Behaviors and their long term health effects. In 2017, Dr. Morgenlander completed a Masters in Public Health at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Michael Pencina, PhD, is the Vice Dean of Data Science and Information Technology at Duke University. He also leads the School's IT strategic direction and investments. He is a professor of Biostatistics and Bioinformatics at Duke University and served as director of Biostatistics at Duke Clinical Research Institute (DRCI). He is an internationally recognized expert in risk prediction model development and evaluation. He serves as deputy editor for Statistics at JAMA-Cardiology and associate editor for Statistics in Medicine. Dr. Pencina received his PhD in Mathematics and Statistics from Boston University. He joined the Duke faculty in 2013. Prior to joining Duke, he served as an associate professor in the Department of Biostatistics at Boston University and the Framingham Heart Study and as director of Statistical Consulting at the Harvard Clinical Research Institute.

Renee Rosiek, BSN, MSN, FNP is an Assistant Professor of Anesthesiology at UNC. She is a board certified Nurse Practitioner (2002 from Duke University) specializing in Pre-operative Evaluations. She studied Medicine at West Virginia University (graduating in 1986 with a degree in Nursing).

Matt Sullivan, JD, was originally hired as a public safety officer at the Chapel Hill Police Department while completing his undergraduate degree at UNC in 1988. He served as a public officer, firefighter and D.A.R.E. officer before earning his master's degree in social work. After graduation, he rejoined the Chapel Hill Police Department as a member of the Police Crisis Unit. He later pursued a law degree at North Carolina Central University, putting his law degree to work by serving as one of the town's police attorneys. In 2013, he led the Chapel Hill Planning and Inspections Department and then assumed the position of Emergency Manager of the town followed by Fire Chief in 2015 & retiring from the position in 2020.