

A Letter from Katia
First Year University School Student

A cordial greeting to you and wishing each one of you blessings and success in your life.

I am 19 years old and studying in my 1st year in the university for a degree in nursing at the Catholic University of El Salvador. Thanks to God, this year I have been doing very well in school. I have not failed any classes and hope to continue like this.

One of the experiences is to go to hospital practices. This year it was a very nice experience but also a very difficult week. We had our exams this week so I had to leave the hospital and go straight to school. Thanks to God, I passed my exams.

Thank you for believing in us and giving us support. Thank you for the sacrifices you make to send us financial help. I am infinitely grateful to everyone and will push myself to get the best grades to make your efforts worth it.

With this I say goodbye. May God and our Holy Mother bless you and takes care of each of you. You are very loved and overall, thank you.
