STEWARDSHIP MOMENT

“The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a man who sowed good seed in his field...He who sows good seed is the Son of Man, the field is the world, the good seed the children of the kingdom.” – Matthew 13:24, 37-38.

As children of God, we are all “good seeds.” We are blessed by God with the potential to accomplish much good in the world. We fulfill God’s plan when we spend time in prayer every day, use our skills to help others and share our financial gifts to help build God’s kingdom on earth. Through our example of gratitude and generosity we sow “good seeds” on earth and ultimately help each other get to Heaven!

THE FACT WE ARE PRAYING FOR OTHERS IS A GOOD SIGN, SUGGESTS POPE FRANCIS

At Casa Santa Marta, Also Says Sometimes Silence is Courageous

The fact we are praying for others is a good thing.

The Holy Father expressed gratitude and prayed for those who are praying for others facing difficult situations at this time.

“This is a good sign,” Francis said.

In the homily, the Holy Father reflected on the reading from the book of Wisdom and how it foreshadows what would happen to Jesus.

“It’s almost an historical account of what will happen later,” the Jesuit Pontiff observed, noting how “the wicked” concentrate and despise Jesus since he calls them out on their sinful lives, and hence plan to test Him “with revilement and torture,” eventually “condemning Him to a shameful death.”

In his homily, Pope Francis pointed out how despite all the forces of evil working against Him, working for His demise, that He always took the high road and never dignified their evilness with, what would have been completely human and normal, reactions.

While Jesus is both human and divine, and we are only human, we still can-the Pope recommends-try to learn from Him and how he handled the devil’s ferocious attacks.

The Pope also reflected on how we ought to pray, noting we must admit candidly and completely to God that we are sinners.

“In this case, the Lord teaches us how to pray, how to get close, how we must approach the Lord: with humility. There is a beautiful image in the liturgical hymn of the feast of Saint John the Baptist.

Like those who came to the Jordan River to be baptized, who arrived “naked in soul and barefoot”, we too must “pray with a naked soul, without makeup, without disguising one’s virtues.”

“We read at the beginning of the Mass that the Lord forgives all sins but He needs us to show him our sins, in our nakedness. To pray thus, with a naked heart, without covering up, not even trusting what I learned on the way to pray...”, is how we must come to him.

Silence, Pope Francis underscored, is also the appropriate response to the “little acts of fury” that we face each day.

Such acts of fury can be manifested in large ways such as persecution, and other smaller, but still dangerous ways, such as gossip.

Noting gossip is not as strong as persecution, perhaps, but nonetheless a kind of fury, because it destroys others. “Let us ask the Lord for the grace to fight against the evil spirit”, the Pope said in conclusion, “to dialogue when we need to dialogue, but, in the face of the spirit of fury, to have the courage to remain silent, and allow others to speak.”
