MANAGEMENT

WAC 170-295, WAC 170-297

Preschools operating under four hours are not required to be licensed, whereas those operating more than four hours are licensed as a child care program according to the Washington Administrative Code.

2.2 Release of Children

Children may be released from Child Care/Preschool programs only to their parents or other individuals who are designated by the parents in writing as having permission to pick children up from school.

2.3 Budget Planning

Principals in consultation with the appropriate committee(s) shall prepare a budget to be approved by the pastor(s) or school governing board.

2.4 Money Handling

School will formulate specific procedures for the handling of all funds (all negotiable instruments) by both school personnel and volunteers consistent with state law, sound business practices, and abiding by the regulations.

Procedures for Money Handling

When handling monies gathered for support of school programs and/or activities; steps are necessary to protect both the assets, and the persons responsible. Prudence and caution are essential whether the persons responsible are volunteers or employees.
In light of practical experience, the following suggestions can well serve as guidelines for evaluating present practices and procedures.

In All Cases
1. A predetermined system should be established and documented including balancing sheets and agreed to procedures. Final documentation should reference the procedures followed.
2. The documentation should stand on its own providing a clear representation of beginning balance, the transactions, receipts and disbursements, and ending balance amounts.
3. Payments received should be banked as soon as reasonably possible.
4. Programs are not a source for lending money for any purpose outside the defined program.
5. It is recommended that a quarterly review of all transactions (sales and purchases) for reasonableness in amount and accuracy in recording be completed. This review should be performed by someone other than those involved in the regular program.

Tuition
1. Tuition payments should be received by a person assigned that responsibility. Tuition money received should be balanced by an employee.
2. Receipts for tuition payments should be immediately available upon request. A receipt book should be dedicated to Tuition and Fees for Educational Programs.
3. Receipts should be completed in full (amount of payment, purpose of payment, name of payee, and name of person receiving payment).
4. Cash payments should be deposited with tuition payments. Not used as petty cash.

Fund Monies
1. Monies for such items are best handled by as few people as reasonably possible.
2. A system of recording beginning cash, the days/weeks receipts, and closing total for the specific period is recommended. This should be balanced with the sales tracking of items.
3. A predetermined amount of money should serve as the cash available for the operations of the store. Monies exceeding this amount should be banked on a regular basis.
4. If monies realized from the sales are used to pay for purchases, it is suggested that someone other than the person doing the purchasing receive/retain a copy of the invoices.

Lunch/Milk Monies
1. Maintain an established system for collecting money and recording payments by the students.
2. Because of government subsidy and recording/reporting requirements, it is recommended that a separate account is for these monies.
3. Clear, accurate records regarding the number of free/reduced lunches/milk given to students is a prerequisite to determining the cost per lunch/milk and total program needs.

One Time Fundraisers
1. Two persons should serve as "official bankers" for such fund raisers.
2. A predetermined system should account for all pre-sold tickets.
3. A predetermined system should be established to insure the security of the assets (e.g. SCRIP).
4. A predetermined amount of money is assigned by the banker to each sales unit. The bankers are responsible for periodic collection of funds and provision of appropriate cash.
5. Each sales unit is responsible for reporting its own transactions and balancing the transactions to the beginning cash plus receipts less closing cash balance.

6. The bankers are responsible for reporting the day’s transactions and balancing the transactions to the beginning cash plus receipts less closing cash balance and sign the report.

Petty Cash

1. One person is designated to handle the petty cash system.

2. The petty cash system should always remain in balance (i.e. predetermined cash amount equals open disbursement slips, plus Receipt/Invoices, plus actual cash).

3. A Disbursement slip is filled out whenever cash is removed from the petty cash. This slip notes the payee, payer, amount of cash, date of disbursement, and purpose.

4. A Receipt/Invoice and appropriate change are balanced to the disbursement slip upon return of the Receipt/Invoice. Receipt/Invoice is attached to the front of the disbursement slip and remains with the petty cash to provide the balancing amount.

5. Petty cash is balanced monthly and on cash replenishment.

6. Loans are not made from petty cash.

Schools pay annual dues to the Washington State Catholic Conference and the National Catholic Educational Association.

2.6 School Inventory
