How Sacred Images Can Lead To Peace In The Soul
Aleteia / Philip Kosloski / February 8, 2020

Icons and other beautiful images can elevate our prayer life and rescue us out of despair

While it's true that prayer does not require the use of sacred images or icons, they certainly do help and can have a powerful effect on the soul. The Catholic Church has firmly believed in the importance of sacred art for centuries and even encourages it in the Catechism.

Sacred art is true and beautiful when its form corresponds to its particular vocation: evoking and glorifying, in faith and adoration, the transcendent mystery of God --- the surpassing invisible beauty of truth and love visible in Christ, who "reflects the glory of God and bears the very stamp of his nature," in whom "the whole fullness of deity dwells bodily." This spiritual beauty of God is reflected in the most holy Virgin Mother of God, the angels, and saints. Genuine sacred art draws man to adoration, to prayer, and to the love of God, Creator and Savior, the Holy One and Sanctifier. (CCC 2502)

It is custom in many parts of the world of having an "icon corner" in the home, where religious paintings are hung for the purposes of personal prayer. An individual will stand, sit or kneel while meditating on these images, raising their hearts to God. St. John Paul II highlighted the importance of beautiful works of art in his Letter to Artists, going as far as to say "The Church needs art."

At the end of the Council of Fathers addressed a greeting and an appeal to artists: "This world – they said – in which we live needs beauty in order not to sink into despair. Beauty, like truth, brings joy to the human heart and is that precious fruit which resists the erosion of time, which unites generations and enables them to be one in admiration!"

Beauty is a key to the mystery and a call to transcendence. It is an invitation to savour life and to dream of the future. That is why the beauty of created things can never fully satisfy. It stirs that hidden nostalgia for God which a lover of beauty like Saint Augustine could express in comparable terms: "Late have I loved you, beauty so old and so new: late have I loved you!"

Interestingly enough, secular research in this regard has found a fascinating connection between viewing beautiful art and an increase in positive brain waves. In an article published by The Telegraph. Professor Semir Zeki, chair in neuroaesthetics at University College London, relates the finding of his study.

"We wanted to see what happens in the brain when you look at beautiful paintings. What we found is when you look at art – whether it is a landscape, a still life, an abstract or a portrait – there is strong activity in that part of the brain related to pleasure....The blood flow increased for a beautiful painting just as it increases when you look at somebody you love. It tells us art induces a feel good sensation direct to the brain."

This appears to confirm that beautiful art has the ability to touch the depths of our soul and can not only help us focus in prayer, but also lead to feelings of peace. If you are looking for ways to improve your prayer life, try using beautiful images and icons that raise your heart to God.

PONDERINGS FROM FATHER BILL

Critics of Catholicism will point out to me on occasion our worship of statues, relics, icons, paintings, and even the Virgin Mary. I quickly will then ask them if they have pictures of loved ones hanging on their walls. Spiritually, this questioning springs a trap on them when they respond in the affirmative assuming their honesty in answer. They are not worshipping the picture image of their family, but the essence and memories these sacred beings evoke from the past. The images stir up our better nature and sentiment, according to the way that God has wired us emotionally and spiritually. The New York City Fire Department uniform jacket of my Dad, who died ten years ago on March 25, reminds me of the beautiful man who once placed his arms into that jacket. A Russian icon of the Holy Family, from the late 1700's, transports me to the several centuries of faith and bravery that preserved its sacred imagery in the face of communist persecution and eradication. The signature on a check nine decades ago by George Herman "Babe" Ruth recalls the Catholic orphan I once was myself, like this Yankees baseball great. There is no worship here of the memorabilia, but the God-created believers that conjure up connections to the Almighty. Father Bill

CANDLELIGHT KICK-OFF

When: Tuesday, September 22 – 7:00pm

Where: Sacred Heart Church, 301 Ann St., Newburgh

Msgr. Henry O' Carroll Council #444 of the Knights of Columbus in Newburgh is excited to announce that we are starting a Family of the Month program. This program will involve our four churches: Sacred Heart, St. Francis, St. Patrick's, and Our Lady of the Lake, which we support on many levels. Each month, one family will be selected with the help of the parish priest.

Churches and the months for the award:

Sacred Heart – July, September, and March

St. Francis – August, December, and April

St. Patrick's - October, January, and May

Our Lady of the Lake – November, February, and June

This will allow three families per church per year. At the end of the year one family from the group of 12 will be selected as Family of the Year. The family selected does not need to be a member of the Knights of Columbus. There are seven items that will be considered for the family selection.

Is the family supportive of each other?

Does the family spend quality time together?

Does the family attend weekly mass together?

Does the family pray together outside of mass?

Has the family made significant contribution to the parish and church community?

Does the family serve as a role model of Catholic family values?

Parish Pastor Recommendation.

There are no fees involved. Each family selected will receive a certificate and a gift from Msgr. Henry O' Carroll Council that will be given out at a specified mass.

There are forms you can fill out to nominate your family or another family you think would be deserving of the award. The form will be near a box in the back of each church where you can drop it off, or you can contact us by email at kofcbowler444@gmail.com, or you can call Bill Kuntz with any questions at 201-697-9920.

Thank you for your interest. Good luck to all families, and God bless all.
