Sixth Sunday of Easter
 May 6, 2018

First Reading: Acts 10:25-26, 34-35, 44-48
 Peter wards off Cornelius' gesture of prostration by declaring himself "only human." Peter then gives a brief sermon. In reaction, the Holy Spirit comes upon the Gentiles present, an inclusive gesture that enables them also to speak in tongues.

Second Reading: I John 4:7-10
 A beautiful section of the Letter in which the author describes what makes a true Christian. We learn about the deeper meaning of love, and that God takes the initiative in loving us. Such love led Him to send us His only Son.

Gospel: John 15:9-17
 Jesus describes His true disciples as also being His friends. To them He has opened His heart, with no secrets held back. As a result, these friends of His have the loving task to "bear fruit" in the world.

Reflection by Rev. Leonard N. Peterson

“Dear George, Remember no man is a failure who has friends.” You may recognize those words as the message Clarence the angel wrote in the flyleaf of his copy of Tom Sawyer when he gave it to George Bailey in the holiday classic “It’s a Wonderful Life.” Why thoughts about a Christmas movie on a Sunday in early May? Precisely because Our Lord brings the subject of friendship to the fore in the Gospel for this weekend.

“You are my friends,” He says to His followers, “if you do what I command you. I no longer call you slaves because a slave does not know what his master is doing. I have called you friends, because I have told you everything I have heard from My Father.” Friendship for Jesus involves trust and the absence of secrets between true friends.

We see the truth of this in our friendships. What begins as a first meeting and some conversation eventually leads to more and more sharing, and a measure of trust that we don’t give mere acquaintances.

As our shared time and experiences with our friend mounts up, it leads to ever greater trust, and we gradually open up to him more deeply and he to us. Our mutual respect grows. Soon, when we get together long silences are not uncomfortable.

All this and more Jesus implies with His words. On this next to last Sunday of the Easter season, we discover yet another encouraging facet of resurrected life: In the kingdom of heaven, all of us will enjoy a sustained friendship with God that we began here on earth.

The Second Reading from John’s Letter tells us that all love is from God, because God is love. Note the equation John makes. He does not write that “God has a lot of love, or gives much love away.” As an old man who has witnessed much and has had time to reflect on it all, he simply writes that “God is love.” Amazing! Comforting! Alleluia! No wonder that St. Peter can declare that “God shows no partiality!”

The actor Jimmy Stewart, who played the part of George Bailey in the movie, once said in an interview that he remembered Frank Capra, the producer, saying after the 1946 film wrapped up, that “No man is poor who has one friend. Three friends, and you’re filthy rich.”

Well then, how wealthy we are, if we count the Blessed Trinity as our friends! Or rather, if they count us. That lets us agree wholeheartedly that “the world is round so that friendship may encircle it.”
