Holy Father's Intention for November 2015

Universal: That we may be open to personal encounter and dialogue with all, even those whose convictions differ from our own.

Evangelization: That pastors of the Church, with profound love for their flocks, may accompany them and enliven their hope.

The Feast of Christ the King

Did Jesus ever want to be a king? Jesus never wanted to be a king at all. For instance, after the miracle of the multiplication of the loaves, the people wanted to make him a king. Knowing this, Jesus withdrew from them to the mountain alone (Jn 6:15). In his dialogue with Pilate, Jesus says, “My kingdom does not belong to this world.” Therefore, Jesus admits that he is a king but declares that his kingdom is not of this world. Jesus’ kingdom is based on the beatitudes, and in fact, he wants to rule through service rather than through domination (Mk 10: 45). He neither looked for power and status nor wanted to be royal or kingly in his attitude since he was ready to take up the cross as his throne and thorn as his crown. His authority is rooted in truth, not in physical force since he claims that he has come to bear witness to the truth about the eternal kingdom. That’s what the preface of mass today describes Jesus’ kingdom as a “kingdom of truth and life, kingdom of holiness and grace, kingdom of justice, kingdom of love and peace, to free mankind from all types of bondage, to live peacefully and happily on earth and to inherit eternal life in heaven.”

Jesus is the kingdom of God: This Sunday, at the end of Church’s liturgical year, the readings describe the enthronement of the victorious Christ as the king in heaven in all his glory. The first reading, from the book of Daniel, tells of the mysterious Son of Man, with whom Jesus would later identify himself, coming on the clouds, glorified by God and given dominion that will last forever. Today’s responsorial Psalm 93 proclaims, “The Lord is King,” celebrating the God of Israel as the King over all creation. In the second reading, from the Book of Revelation, the risen Christ is coming with the clouds as the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last of all things, who is and who was and who is to come and so his kingship is eternal. In today’s gospel, Jesus asserts before Pilate that he is a king and clarifies that that his kingdom does not belong to this world and he came to testify to the truth. He says, everyone who is open to the truth “will listen to my voice.” So, listening to the voice of Jesus the shepherd, we are called to do his service to the truth. The truth Jesus teaches us is that God his Father is our loving and forgiving Father and we are all His children, forming one body. Hence, whatever we do for His children, and our sisters and brothers, we do for Him.

Jesus is the King of this Kingdom: He is a most unusual King; he is a crucified King. It is a most unusual kingdom. The greatest in the Kingdom are the childlike. In the Kingdom of God there is only one law, the law of love. In the Kingdom of God there is only one banquet, the Eucharist, which is a foretaste of the feast we will share in the next life. As preached that “The Kingdom of heaven is at hand, in our midst,” and “Seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all of these things will be given to you” (Matt. 6: 33), he give us a strong clue in the bible that the king of the kingdom of God is none other than Jesus himself (Matt. 10:7), therefore, our desire is to long for Jesus the everlasting king to rule our life, our families, and our society with his everlasting peace!

Prayers and Blessings,

Rev. Lawrence Rasaian, JCD, Ph.D.
