A Year of Mercy with Pope Francis

August 14

In the Desert

[Pope Benedict the XVI said:] “In the desert, we rediscover the value of what is essential for living; thus in today’s world there are innumerable signs, often expressed implicitly or negatively, of the thirst for God, for the ultimate meaning of life. And in the desert, people of faith are needed who, by the example of their own lives, point out the way to the Promised Land and keep hope alive.”

-Evangelii Gaudium

Reflection: So often we can mask our real thirsts by distracting ourselves with television, social media, or a variety of different activities. How do you mask your thirst for God and for the ultimate meaning of life? Take a break from these distractions this week. Set aside more time to discover God’s love and mercy through prayer, friendships, and sacraments.

It Makes the World Less Cold

In the past few days I have been reading a book by a cardinal... on mercy... Cardinal [Walter] Kasper said that feeling mercy, that this word changes everything. This is the best thing we can feel: it changes the world. A little mercy makes the world less cold and more just. We need to understand properly this mercy of God, this merciful Father who is so patient...

Let us remember the Prophet Isaiah who says that even if our sins were scarlet, God’s love would make them white as snow. This mercy is beautiful.

-Angelus, March 17, 2013

Reflection: Do you believe that mercy can change the world? How can it change your area of influence? Make one act of mercy today, no matter how small it may be. Make the world less cold and more just!

August 16

Drowning in the Sea of Fears and Anxieties

The Lord in his great goodness and his infinite mercy always takes us by the hand lest we drown in the sea of our fears and anxieties. He is ever at our side; he never abandons us. And so, let us not be overwhelmed by fear or disheartened, but with courage and confidence let us press forward in our journey and in our mission.

-Address, May 26, 2014

Reflection: When face with challenges in life, it is so easy to forget that Jesus is right by us. Sometimes we don’t want to be near him because we are ashamed of our sins or weaknesses. But Jesus wants to be by our side; he wants to be near us. Imagine he’s next to you. What do you want to say to him? What is he saying to you?
